Safety briefing

Safety man: Shell New Zealand and National Business Leaders' health and safety forum chairman Rob Jager, right, hosted business leaders from around the country at the Shell building in New Plymouth yesterday. Mr Jager said creating zero-harm workplaces was about driving a working culture where the team was committed to doing all it could to prevent accidents. In between helpful tips, from left, PKW chief executive Dion Tuuta, Andrew Crisp of the Ministry of Business, Innovation and Employment, Wells Electrical boss Graham Wells, and Veolia Water general manager Ian Cathcart got a close look at the Pohokura Control room, from which Martin Inia monitors the gasfield.
